LOOKING FOR BLOOD STAINS

Still Hunting for the Head and for the Doctor Who Committed the Dress Suit Case Crime.

Boston, Sept. 27.—While the divers are at work trying to find at the bottom of the harbor off Winthrop the missing parts of the body of a young woman whose body was found in a dress suit case last Thursday, the police are scouring the city for the suspected doctor who committed the terrible crime, two more articles that may have a bearing on the mystery were found today. The crew of a dredge boat picked up off East Boston a mackintosh, in the top pocket of which was found a light hair, similar to those found in the suit case and on the clothing picked up Monday on the beach at Cottage Park. A careful examination of the coat will be made for blood stains.

A bedquilt was also found on the beach near Winthrop bearing what looked like blood stains. This will be given a test for blood stains. Nothing else has developed in the mysterious case today, except that it has been discovered beyond a doubt that the package, wrapping paper around which was found, containing blood clothing and other articles, Monday, was delivered to Mrs. Burnham, Thursday last, five hours before the body of the woman was found, instead of next day, as Mrs. Burnham has so far maintained.

Late yesterday fresh information was gleaned by the police which tends to strengthen the belief that all the members of the body of the unknown woman were thrown into the waters of Winthrop bay, probably near the place of the finding of the dress suit case containing the torso last Thursday.

A resident of Winthrop Highlands, Mrs. Elizabeth Greene, informs the police that she saw two or three objects in the water before the finding of the dress suit case and about a mile west of the spot. She is positive they were two dress suit cases and a woman's hat.

The police also consider of importance the finding of a blonde hair among the clothing taken from the bundle found yesterday. It corresponds to the blonde hair found in the dress suit case and is said to resemble that of the dead woman. The presence of a piece of surgeon's gauze in this bundle is also regarded as important as a piece was found on the torso.

The surgeon's gauze is likely to play a prominent part in the police investigation. Miss Annie Hart, a clerk employed by Miss Rebecca O. Burnham, admits having sold surgeon's gauze to a blonde woman two weeks ago. The paper in which the bundle was wrapped came from Miss Burnham's store in the Back Bay district.

These threads lead the police to believe that the bundle and the dress suit case have close relationship in the crime and the officers are now endeavoring to locate the blonde woman who purchased the gauze.

It has been learned that the suit case had been purchased from a pawn broker about six months ago.

GROSSLY MISREPRESENTED.

Says the Kaiser, Concerning His Interview With Americans.

Berlin, Sept. 27.—The publication in American newspapers of remarks attributed to the Kaiser regarding the "yellow peril" at the time he gave an audience to a party of American congressmen has had a diplomatic sequel and as a consequence the congressmen who reported the words of his majesty are accused by German officials with direct breach of etiquette and with violating the confidence of the emperor. The reports of the Kaiser's utterances which appeared in American newspapers, were transmitted to Japan, where they caused a great deal of comment and aroused the ire of the Japanese government.

The minister in Berlin was instructed to make a formal report to the German government, protesting against such public demonstrations of hostility to Japan. The Japanese minister was given satisfactory assurance that the Kaiser's words had been grossly misrepresented. The whole blaine was put on the American congressmen who were received in private audience with the understanding that the conversation was to be private.

Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri issued a statement in Berlin last Saturday in behalf of all the men received by the Kaiser, repudiating all responsibility in connection with the circulation of the unfounded report of the Kaiser's utterances. The National Zeitung, the leading liberal organ, retorted by saying that Congressman Bartholdt himself telephoned to its office the report of the conversation with the emperor, which it published.

London Philanthropist Buried.

London, Sept. 27.—Funeral of Thomas J. Barnardo, whose philanthropic institutions have done so much in reclaiming street waifs, was held today and was the most impressive ceremony of the kind which London's east end has witnessed in many years. Fifteen hundred orphan boys marched at the head of the procession and the slums poured out in great crowds of mourners.

FOR THE YOUNG MEN.

Club Rooms in Worthen Block Offer Fine Opportunities.

Barre's young men are most fortunate in having such a place in which to spend their spare moments as is at the disposal of the Young Men's Club, which has a suite of four finely appointed rooms in the Worthen block. The rooms are those formerly occupied by the Victoria club and consist of a large reception room overlooking North Main street, a reading room and smoking room, directly in the rear of the reception room, and across the hall, but joined to the reading room by a private entry, is a spacious pool and billiard room. In the parlor are easy chairs, a new piano and good music and on a large table in the reading room all the latest standard magazines are to be found. And in this room there is also a writing table.

The club was organized with a view to furnishing a suitable place for young men to spend their spare moments in congenial company, with every means of entertainment which would be found in public places of amusement. Now that the evenings are getting longer and more chilly, the young men who belong to the club appreciate more and more the advantages offered by the rooms and it is greatly to be hoped that many more young men will take advantage of the opportunity offered by such a place to spend their evenings. The rooms are open week days from 7 a. m. until 10 p. m., and Sundays from 1 p. m. until 10 p. m. The directors have succeeded in obtaining Thomas Nichols to take care of the rooms.

The yearly membership fee is three dollars, and the directors would like to see 100 more young men join the club this fall. The rooms are warm and light and will offer a homelike place to spend the cold winter evenings. The directors are trying to arrange a series of entertainments to be given in the club rooms during the autumn and winter.

The club thus far has been generously supported by the business men of the city, but if enough young men would take advantage of the opportunity offered them it might easily be put on a self-supporting basis. The officers of the club are Frank Craig, president; C. S. Wallace, vice president; Pearl Carr, secretary; Dr. L. D. Martin, treasurer, with the following directors: M. Miles, Albert Phillips, E. M. Tynan, Frank McWhorter, Dr. Mcweeney, R. L. Belknap and C. S. Andrews.

The officers are: President, Fregus Le Mary; treasurer, A. DuVal; manager, Joseph Poulin; clerk, James Kinney. The new corporation has a good business and is combined for the purpose of economy in management.

SWALLOWED A PENCIL.

Robert Hanners of Chicago and His Bothersed Appendix.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Robert Hanners, a baker, 24 years of age, walked into the county hospital last evening, and announced to the physician in charge: "Doctor, two years ago I swallowed a pencil and its bothering me a bit."

The doctor laughed at him, but Hanners stuck to his story and complained of a severe pain in his right side. His case was diagnosed as appendicitis and as a case that required immediate attention.

The pencil, five inches in length, and sharpened at one end, was found imbedded in the appendix, as Hanners had predicted.

WEALTHY MERCHANT TAKES LIFE

Boston, Sept. 27.—Alexander W. Pond, a wealthy retired merchant, was found early today on Commonwealth avenue dead, with a bullet-hole in his temple. In his right hand he held a revolver. He had been despondent for some time on account of acute rheumatism, from which he could get no relief. He was fifty-two years old, and retired from business over twenty years ago.

$150,000 FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Senator Proctor Will Erect And Endow Hospital.

IN CHARGE OF STATE BOARD

And Can Be Acquired by the State If Desired.—The Senator Suggests a State Board for Its Control.

A Vermont state sanitarium for consumptives has been assured by a gift of $150,000 from United States Senator Redfield Proctor, $50,000 for the erection and equipment of the buildings and for the site, as soon as a suitable place is located, and $100,000 for the endowment of the institution. Senator Proctor makes the gift in the name of his children.

The gift has been accepted by Dr. W. N. Bryant of Ludlow, secretary of the state tuberculosis commission. The correspondence between the two is as follows:

Proctor, Vt., Sept. 25, 1905.
Dr. W. N. Bryant,
Secretary Vermont State Tuberculosis Commission,
Ludlow, Vermont.

Dear Doctor Bryant:

You know that for several months past my children have been proposing the establishment of a sanitarium for incipient tuberculosis, and that they have, with yourself, Dr. Partridge and others, been looking for a suitable site.

I have had a slight experience in my own family and have seen the young lives and health of others saved by the modern treatment of this white plague. It is deemed by those more conversant than I with the subject that perhaps even more good is accomplished by such an institution through its educational influence in teaching those threatened with the disease how to care for themselves. These reasons have led me to take part in its establishment.

It was thought at the conference with you and Dr. Caverly that it might help in the preliminary work to have it understood as definitely as possible at this early stage what it is proposed to do.

I have promised my children in substance, that I will purchase the site, when a suitable one is found, and erect the buildings, sufficient to accommodate twenty-five or thirty, and furnish and equip them ready to receive patients. The cost of this, I judge roughly, will not exceed $50,000. But I fix no arbitrary limit. In addition to this, I will contribute $100,000 to be held strictly as an endowment fund, the interest only to be applied to the support of the institution. As soon as a site is obtained I will make a formal transfer of it to the board, and the fund will be paid over whenever the organization is ready to receive and invest it.

I have no definite plan or organization, but presume a board, large enough so that the different sections of the state will be fairly represented, will be deemed advisable. The governor of the state should be ex-officio a member of the board of trustees. Other states are establishing institutions of this kind at the public expense, and in turning over the funds and property to the board of trustees, or whatever they may be called, it seems to me that it would be wise to provide that if the state at any time wishes to assume the charge and maintenance of the institution, it may in the discretion of the trustees be turned over to the state with all its property and funds.

I do not wish my name connected with it, but think I should bear the name of the state. I trust that others will care to contribute in the future to its support and fullest development. There will be ample opportunity. It is due to my children to say that this is their gift, rather than mine, as they were the first to suggest it and have urged it earnestly, and it takes what would, in the course of nature, soon be theirs.

I rely greatly upon the interest that you and others have manifested, and I am sure will continue to manifest, in planning and caring for this institution, and can only thank you in advance for your unselfish labors.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) REDFIELD PROCTOR.

Ludlow, Vt., Sept. 25, 1905.
Hon. Redfield Proctor,
Proctor, Vt.

Dear Senator Proctor:

I am in receipt of yours of the 25th inst., notifying the state tuberculosis commission of your beneficent plans regarding a sanitarium for Vermont's consumptives.

Your well known aversion to fulsome compliment precludes much that might and ought to be said in reply. I will, however, say that this proposed act of yours means to our commission the fruition of three years of hope and labor, and to the people of Vermont and their children after them it means more than they or yourself can realize.

In the name of the tuberculosis commission of Vermont and of humanity I thank you for this most magnificent gift to our people.

You must permit me to add that in expressing a wish that your name be not identified with this enterprise, you will find yourself sadly at odds with the unanimous desire of Vermonters.

Very respectfully yours,
W. N. BRYANT,
Secretary Vt. State Tuberculosis Commission.

GEORGE HOWLAND'S FUNERAL.

Large Attendance at Home Place Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late George Howland was held from the homestead on the East Montpelier road yesterday afternoon, Dr. E. A. Bishop of Montpelier seminary conducting the services, assisted by Rev. Charles E. Freeman, rector of the local Episcopal church. The attendance was very large. The directors of the National Bank of Barre and the Barre Savings Bank, with the employees, attended in a body. There were many present from out of town.

The bearers were Frank G. and Merrick Howland, J. F. Robbins, C. N. Barber, Newell Barber, George Howe and William Buzzell. There were many beautiful floral tributes, among them being pieces from the officers of both the banks and from the employees, as well as from many other friends. The burial was in Maplewood cemetery in Barre town.

During the time of the funeral the stores in this city kept their curtains drawn and all the banks were closed out of respect to Mr. Howland.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a meeting of the directors of the Barre Savings Bank and Trust company held this forenoon the following resolutions were passed:

The Directors of the Barre Savings Bank and Trust company wish to place on record their appreciation of the life and work of their vice president, the late George Howland, who passed away September 24th, 1905.

Born in Barre, March 18th, 1831, he has always been loyal to the interests of this town and to the town of his adoption, East Montpelier.

Educated in the school of experience and of association with men, he was a safe counsellor and valuable associate. Faithful in every office to which his townsmen have called him, he has done good service as assessor, constable, selectman and representative to the legislature.

With such a rich experience it was most fortunate that in the organization of the Barre Savings Bank and Trust company he was made one of its Directors and later its Vice President. During the twelve years of its existence he has never been absent from one of its regular meetings, and as a bank we owe to him much of its present success and future prospects. His own life was on the principle of honor-bright, and he wanted every man to have a square deal. In all our future meetings we shall miss his hearty greetings and rugged candor.

We would convey to his wife and sons the assurance of our sympathy and heartfelt good wishes.

We recommend that this be spread upon our records and a copy furnished to the family and press.

In January, 1895, he was elected a Director and was made President February, 1903. He could be relied upon to be present at all meetings and usually was the first to come; always seeing that everyone had a careful hearing. In considering our loans his judgment was greatly relied upon and always desired, that the best interests of the manufacturing industries of the city should be protected. His own life was on the principle of honor-bright, and he wanted every man to have a square deal. In all future meetings we shall miss his hearty greetings and rugged candor.

CITY BUYS ARKLEY FARM

To Protect Its Water Supply in Orange.

THE PRICE PAID IS $2000

Buildings Near Shore of Reservoir—Congregational Church Given Use of Opera House for Sunday Services While Church Is Closed.

At the meeting of the board of aldermen last evening it was announced that an option had been secured on the Arkley property in Orange, which adjoins the Orange brook reservoir, and on the report of the special committee it was voted to purchase the same for $2,000. The location of the buildings on this farm were a constant menace to the city water supply. The barns and barn yards ran back to the edge of the stream, and while the water has not been contaminated, it was deemed advisable to avoid any chance of contamination by purchasing the property and removing the outbuildings. A special committee was appointed August 23d to see what could be done, and this committee reported last evening as follows:

"The special committee appointed August 23d for the purpose of purchasing the J. L. Arkley property in Orange, Vt., respectfully reports: We have this day secured an option on the above named property, which adjoins the Orange brook reservoir, for $2,000. The property consisted of the homestead and about 35 acres of land, also about 15 acres of woodland and sugar house, and about 10 acres of pasture on the northwesterly side of the road. We hereby recommend that the city of Barre get a deed for the said property drawn up as soon as possible and then get the drainage on same put in a better condition than it is at the present time."

The committee on streets reported favorably on the petition of the gas company to run pipes across the Ayer street bridge. The report was accepted and a resolution was adopted giving them the right to run pipes along the girders on this one bridge.

The committee on streets reported on the petition for a concrete sidewalk on Dewey street, stating that the board was against a concrete walk and therefore the committee returned the original petition.

The finance committee reported favorably on re-insuring the city employees in the Travelers' Insurance Co. for another year.

City Attorney J. W. Gordon reported on the matter of B. B. Holmes residing on a house on a permit more than 60 days old, that at the time the permit was granted there were no restrictions on it, and hence there was no violation of the building ordinances.

The monthly statement of the street department was read and placed on file.

The petition of Page Bros. to run a surface sewer from their land into the surface sewer on Prospect street was referred to the street committee with power to act.

The Congregational church was granted the use of the opera house for Sunday services while their church building is closed.

A. F. Cutts of Hill street appeared before the board about surface water setting back from Hill street into his cellar. Refused to street committee to investigate and report.

The board then took up the report of the committee of the whole on accepting the fire station from the contractor. Several matters which the board thought should be attended to by the contractor before the building is accepted were discussed by the board with Mr. Bugbee and it was agreed to meet and go over the building together.

COUNTY COURT.

More Arrests on Indictments Found by the Grand Jury.

Montpelier, Sept. 27.—The Berry Shoe Co. vs. Barber & Polignini case is still occupying the attention of county court. E. W. Gilman, proprietor of one of the leading general stores in Marshfield, was arrested there on Monday afternoon as a result of a bill returned by the grand jury charging him with keeping and furnishing. He was brought to this city and bail was fixed in the sum of $2,000. B. F. Chester of Cabot became surety. At the time Mr. Gilman's case was before the grand jury, there was a large delegation of witnesses summoned from Marshfield. It is reported that the number of cases found against Mr. Gilman was 24, but when the state's attorney was interrogated, he would only say there were several.

Carlo Milano of Barre was arrested yesterday on a writ resulting from the findings of the grand jury, charging him with illegally transporting intoxicating liquor.
